

Zookeeper

ZooKeeper is a software project of the Apache Software Foundation. It is an open source file application program interface (API) that allows distributed processes in large systems to synchronize with each other so that all clients making requests receive consistent data.